

I'LL BE DOING MONOLOGUES FROM SUMMER BRAVE (Hal) AND EPIC PROPORTIONS (Assistant Director)

SUMMER BRAVE (HAL CARTER)

Sorry about your car, Al. I HAD to get to California, was gonna pay ya back, once I broke into the movies. They were going to call me Brush Carter. They took pictures of me with my shirt off, Real Rugged. The screen test went okay, except for my teeth. Yah! You have to have a certain kind of teeth or they can't use ya. (short pause) I'm broke and need a job, Al. I'm a good worker and I promise no babes and no liquor (short pause) Give a guy a break; you're the only friend I have. (short pause) I can't go home, the old man died, Al. I can't even look at my mother without getting sick. The old man left the filling station to me but she told the lawyers he was bughouse, and took it from me. (short pause) I gotta amount to something, Al, I gotta! I wanta be like you, nice office, sharp suit, pretty secretary, and talk about . . . enterprises and things. (Pause) Right, patience. (short pause) That something I got to work on, patience . . .

EPIC PROPORTIONS (ASSISTANT DIRECTOR)

Hello, I'm the Assistant Director in charge of Atmosphere Personnel . . . "Extas." all 3,400 of you. It might take me a while to learn names, but if you need me, I'm in the little blue tent next to the Sphinx of Antioch, and my flap is always open. So, welcome to Molten Rock, Arizona, where we will be filming "Exeunt Omnes," which apparently is Latin for "everybody out." Who knew? The nearest town is over 240 miles away across the scorching desert, but that doesn't mean we can't have fun, right here. I've got a sign-up sheet for softball that will be posted by the Temple of Osiris, on the call board next to the Oracle. Oh, and if anyone has a softball, that'd be great. We will all work together and have something we can all really be proud of! (start to walk off, then turn back and says) And oh sorry there are only two bathrooms.